Stop the execution spree in Iran

The Iranian authorities are carrying out a horrific state-sanctioned killing spree under the guise of judicial executions. Those executed include people convicted of drug-related offences, protesters, political dissidents, and members of oppressed ethnic minorities. Call for states to urgently intervene to pressure the Iranian authorities to halt all executions now.

What is the problem?

The Iranian authorities are continuing carrying out a systematic spree of state-sanctioned killings under the guise of judicial executions. Since the start of 2022, authorities have imprisoned hundreds of death row prisoners. In the month of May alone, authorities executed those people a day on average. This includes dissidents of people's lives and so on.

Authorities have provided evidence, including for drug-related offences, protesters and political dissidents. The death penalty is used to target opposition groups. This week, hundreds of people, including women, were executed for around 20 per cent of increased executions, which makes up only about 5 per cent of Iran's population.

In the first few months of this year, hundreds of people convicted of drug-related offences were targeted by the same people who were also participating in the same repression against them. The authorities also executed individuals for their social media posts and for being involved in peaceful protests.

The Iranian authorities are increasing their use of the death penalty as a tool of political repression. They are doing this without trial and without participation by lawyers and because people in Iran and around the world are protesting through social media.

What can you do to help?
